Hydrocarbons Don’t Belong Here

Gaudy litter piles on ashen anemone
Changing our ocean’s chemistry.
Giant turtles with buckling knees
Wondering their destiny.

Barrels of oil coat the ocean black
Suffocate sodden seagulls
Longing to see their reflections back
From the ocean’s surface so tranquil.