Seva Rostovtsev, Director of Discovery Chemistry, FMC Agricultural Solutions, explains the benefits of greater public investment in agricultural research, the biggest challenge confronting farmers that the public doesn't fully appreciate, and the non-technical skills he most highly values among his scientists.

In the words of ACS Career Consultant, Marciano Bagnoli, Quality Manager, Georgia-Pacific LLC, "Informational interviews can provide a wealth of information and insight if planned appropriately." Marciano explains how to get the most out of these conversations.

In this issue's Innovation Zone feature, Marjorie Radlo-Zandi, Impact Investor, Consultant and Board Member, QSM Diagnostics, stresses the importance of planning for 'one's next act', how young scientists can connect with socially-conscious investors, and how her poodle, Sabrina, contributed to her involvement with Torigen Pharmaceuticals.
