

Appendix I – Chemistry’s Contributions to the U.S. Industrial Base

Figure I-2. Relative GERD in PPP (constant 2000) Dollars

Gross Domestic Expenditure on Research and Development (GERD) expressed in terms of purchasing power parity (PPP) relative to the U.S. dollar in 2000 for representative countries.

Source: United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO). UNESCO Institute for Statistics (UIS), Data Centre. <http://www.uis.unesco.org> (accessed July, 2010).